Case Study: Tony Kealys

Tony Kealys, an Irish retailer specializing in both small baby products and larger items, leveraged the joint capabilities of Ordorite and Shipster to optimize their order processing. The Ordorite WMS effectively managed and processed orders from their diverse inventory from bottles to pushchairs. At the dispatch benches, Shipster automated label generation, courier selection, and tracking for both small and bulky deliveries. This tailored solution eliminated manual errors, improved operational efficiency, the customer experience and optimized shipping costs. The collaboration between Ordorite and Shipster proved instrumental in cementing the right handling and shipping for Kealys' unique mix of products, from storage to distribution with minimum fuss.

Tony Kealys after go-live:

“ Since we started using the Ordorite x Shipster system, our warehouse process has been more efficient as the manual input has been removed”
